

GROUP WORK
QUESTIONS

Once upon a time

Discuss the following in your groups:

- How do the words think, believe, belong, practice, question, change and refuse relate to what happened in the story and to things you appreciate or dislike about the characters?
- Can you think of stories from your culture or faith tradition that say positive things about people thinking, believing, belonging, practicing, changing, questioning or refusing?
- Does the community benefit when people are allowed to do these things or is it a threat to the community? Or both?
- Is positive change possible without people who do these things?

GROUP WORK
QUESTIONS

Once upon a time

Discuss the following in your groups:

- How do the words think, believe, belong, practice, question, change and refuse relate to what happened in the story and to things you appreciate or dislike about the characters?
- Can you think of stories from your culture or faith tradition that say positive things about people thinking, believing, belonging, practicing, changing, questioning or refusing?
- Does the community benefit when people are allowed to do these things or is it a threat to the community? Or both?
- Is positive change possible without people who do these things?